

ABOUT THE CONFERENCE

Oil Technologists' Association of India (OTAI) is organizing its 73rd Annual Convention and “INTERNATIONAL CONFERENCE ON VALUE ADDITION IN OIL SEEDS, OILS AND DERIVATIVES THROUGH INNOVATIVE TECHNOLOGIES”. During DECEMBER 14-16/21-23, 2018 at Manekshaw convention center Delhi, India. This year the annual convention is being organized by OTAI Head Quarter (HQ).

In Association with:

- Harcourt Butler Technical University, Kanpur (HBTU)
- Food Safety and Standards Authority of India (FSSAI)
- American Oil Chemists' Society (AOCS)
- European Federation for the Science and Technology of Lipids (Euro Fed Lipid)
- Japan Oil Chemists' Society (JOCS)
- The International Society for Fat Research (ISF)
- The Solvent Extractors' Association of India (SEA).

International Business in reference with OIL SEEDS, OILS AND DERIVATIVES has a major role in the economy of a particular country and innovative technology adoption has an important aspect in value addition of various products manufactured in the field of oil seeds, oils, oleo chemicals and allied industries.

Sustainable and green technology is a continuously evolving group of methods or materials, a challenge to manufacturers to meet the demands of environmentally emphasized consumers and society at large. Today industry has to produce products, which ensure less raw material consumption, less resource consumption for production, transportation and finally their end usage as well as disposal -all attributes favored by eco-friendly nature.

The use of biotechnology for finding green solutions is another emerging and futuristic targeted area for innovations across the globe. Sustainability assessment and corporate social responsibility has become important tool for industrial growth in North America and Europe. Asia being largest consumer market has to adopt these dimensions in business. India has taken new step in this reference.

The Conference will provide an excellent opportunity to bring together all the stake holders in the Industries and consumers interest organizations, regulatory agencies & policy implementers', Research Organizations on a common platform to network, share resources and provide future directions in the areas of Oil seed processing, oil processing, Oilseed, Cake-based Products, nutraceuticals and fortification of oil based products, Soaps - Detergents, other Personal & Home Care Products, Lubricants, Coatings, Surfactants & Oleo chemicals. All technical sessions will be focused on value addition by adoption of newer technologies and futuristic technological trends. The program will consist of Plenary and Invited Lectures along with Oral and Poster Presentations related to the above areas.

Vegetable Oil Industries, Project and Process Engineering Companies/Consultants, Plant & Machinery Manufacturers, Specialty Chemical Manufacturers, Analytical Equipment Manufacturers/Dealers are invited to participate in the Exhibition.

Special invitation will be extended to public and local industries exclusively for the exhibition to attract more visitors to the stalls. Exhibition Order Form is enclosed.

The Conference offers sponsorship opportunities for Corporate, Machinery & Process Plant Manufacturers and Trade Organizations to take the advantage of this unique opportunity by actively participating in the event. A Souvenir will be brought out on this occasion consisting of informative and valuable technical presentations of the Conference. The Souvenir will give a unique opportunity to publish the profiles of Industry and Consultants. The details are given in the enclosed Exhibition/Advertisement Order Form. The Organizers will provide Booths for Business Meetings / Company Interactions free of cost at the Convention Centre.

OTAI cordially invites you all to attend VALUE ADDITION IN OIL SEEDS, OILS AND DERIVATIVES THROUGH INNOVATIVE TECHNOLOGIES and make this purposeful event a memorable one. OTAI is looking forward to see you in New Delhi, a historical & colorful Capital city of India.

About OTAI

Oil Technologists' Association of India (OTAI) is a non-profit organization, established in 1943 by Late Rao Saheb D. Y. Athawale, Ex-Principal of Harcourt Butler Technological Institute (HBTI), Kanpur and the then Oil expert to the Government of Uttar Pradesh. OTAI was registered under the Societies of Registration Act XXI of 1860 in 1945. Since then the Association has been growing under the stewardship of distinguished Scientists, Oil Technologists and Industrialists. The Association has five zones with a membership of about 1600 in Northern, Southern, Eastern, Western and Central India with its Head Office at Kanpur. The Head Office and Central Executive Council of the Association co-ordinate national and international activities of its five zones. In addition, the OTAI activities are also carried out by the Central Committees of the apex body like Publication Committee, International Co-ordination Council, Research Investigation and Implementation Committee. The Association keeps close liaison with several National and International bodies having similar aims and objectives. The Association is represented in various national committees including Bureau of Indian Standards (BIS), Inter-ministerial Co-ordination Committee on Processing of oil seeds, Ministry of Food and Civil Supplies, Government of India, National Oilseeds and Vegetable Oils Development Board of Department of Agriculture and Co-operation, Government of India. The Association also funds R & D projects at academic Institutes. The Association publishes a quarterly Scientific Periodical "Journal of Lipid Science & Technology" of international repute. OTAI is an Association of Chemists, Engineers, Managers, Scientists, Technologists and Industrialists. Its objective is to promote the advancement of technology and research in oilseeds, oils and fats and other lipids and derived products. It also endeavors to encourage all round developments of proper processing and utilization of these products. In addition, OTAI helps in improving professional competence of Chemists, Engineers, Scientists and Technologists by disseminating relevant information regarding latest technological developments by organizing lectures, symposia, workshops, refresher courses on different topics in the field of oilseed and edible oil processing, home and personal care products including soaps, detergents, oleochemicals and surfactants. OTAI is playing a pivotal role in transferring the scientific and technological developments in the field of oils and fats to the industry.

Delhi: The Capital Of India

The area around Delhi was probably inhabited before the second millennium BC and there is evidence of continuous inhabitation since at least the 6th century BC. The city is believed to be the site of Indraprastha, the legendary capital of the Pandavas in the Indian epic Mahabharata According to Mahabharata, this land was initially a huge mass of forests called 'Khandavaprastha' which was burnt down to build the city of Indraprastha. The earliest architectural relics date back to the Maurya period (c. 300 BC); in 1966, an inscription of the Mauryan Emperor Ashoka (273–235 BC) was discovered near Srinivaspuri. Remains of eight major cities have been discovered in Delhi. The first five cities were in the southern part of present-day Delhi. King Anang Pal of the Tomara dynasty founded the city of Lal Kot in AD 736. Prithviraj Chauhan conquered Lal Kot in 1178 and renamed it Qila Rai Pithora. The iron pillar of Delhi is said to have been fashioned at the time of Chandragupta Vikramaditya (375–413) of the Gupta Empire. The king Prithviraj Chauhan was defeated in 1192 by Muhammad Ghori, a Muslim invader from Afghanistan, who made a concerted effort to conquer northern India. By 1200, native Hindu resistance had begun to crumble, the dominance of foreign Turkic Muslim dynasties in north India was to last for the next five centuries. The slave general of Ghori, Qutb-ud-din Aibak was given the responsibility of governing the conquered territories of India and then Ghori returned to his capital, Ghor. He died in 1206 AD. He had no heirs and so his generals declared themselves independent in different parts of his empire. Qutb-ud-din assumed control of Ghori's Indian possessions. He laid the foundation of the Delhi Sultanate and the Mamluk Dynasty. he began construction of the Qutb Minar and Quwwat-al-Islam (Might of Islam) mosque, the earliest extant mosque in India. It was his successor, Iltutmish (1211–36), who consolidated the Turkic conquest of northern India. Razia Sultan, daughter of Iltutmish, succeeded him as the Sultan of Delhi. She is the first and only woman to rule over Delhi.
